General Information	Elavon	Square
Business type	Acquirer	Payment facilitator
Description	An acquiring bank is a financial institution that accepts and processes credit and debit card transactions on behalf of merchants.	A payment facilitator (PayFac) is a third-party merchant services business that sets up electronic payment and processing services for business owners through an acquirer.
Funding	Same day or next day funding	Square's standard funding period is 1-2 days at no charge. Other fee-based options include instant and automated same-day transfers.
Security	Up to $250,000 in data breach assistance. We take data security seriously. We provide a variety of fraud mitigation tools within our eCommerce platforms to help reduce risk and help prevent fraud.	Square doesn't offer breach protection to their customers. If breached, the customer potentially loses control during the initial forensic investigations and the account could be shut down without warning.
Support	24/7/365 LIVE customer and technical support with Local Payments Professional Representation in most areas	Square offers a support call center that is open from 6 AM to 6 PM PDT Monday through Friday. Square doesn't offer "Local" representation because it's an online service only.

Payment acceptance rates

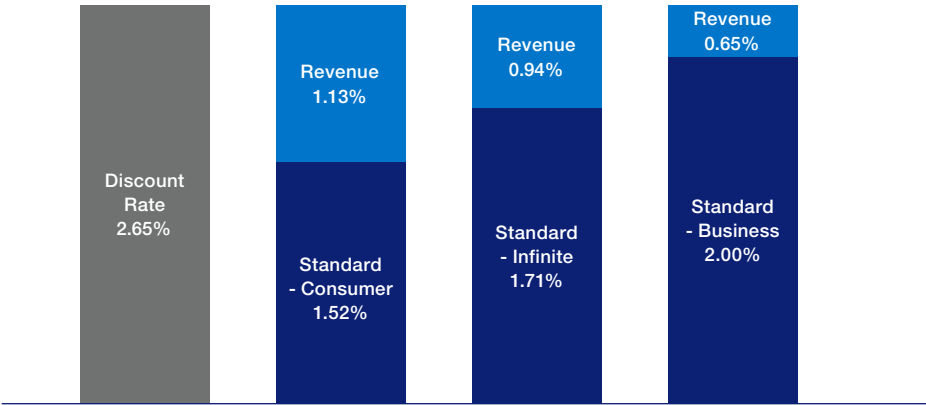

Elavon

Elavon has an Interchange Plus model where the cost of the card is the interchange rate plus a pre-determined markup. As such, markups will be the same on all card types.

Square

Square has a fixed model where the customer is charged one rate, regardless of the transaction cost or interchange rate. Revenue for the payment processing company will fluctuate on each sale depending on the interchange rate of the card.*
